You don't have to be too careful with the "box" you draw around the data, it seems to select the correct fields even if they are only partially in the box.

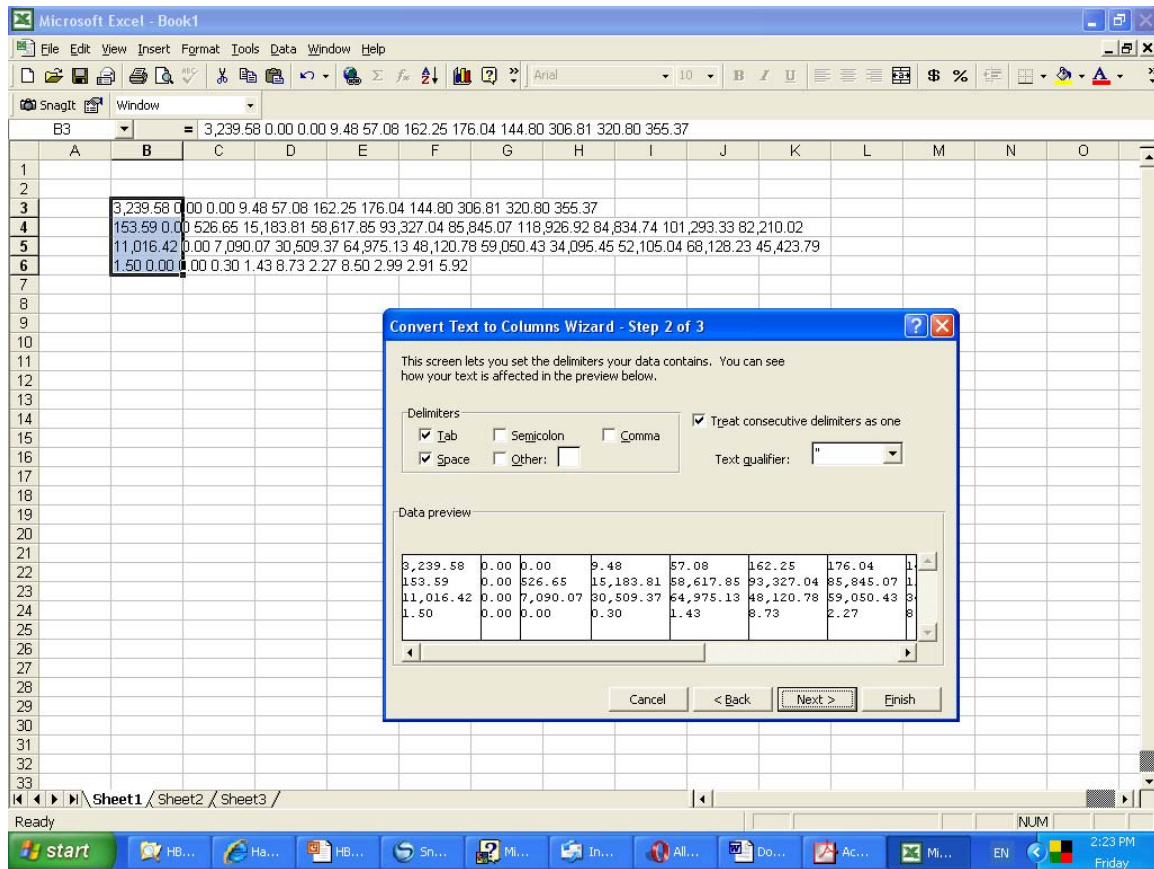

Press CTRL C to copy the data.

Open Excel and chose a cell that's not in the top row or in the first column, then press CNTR V to paste, and select Data, then Text to Data.

Delimited is preselected, click Next.

Select both Tab and Space, click Finish

Check that the data has pasted into the correct cells.

Note in this example that the negative sign has been lost in the first column!
