Freedom of Information versus Copyright Releases and Licences

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act gives you access to material for private study or research purposes only. It does not, in any manner, give you copyright release. A copyright release authorizes you to reproduce and distribute the information for a non-profit purpose. An exclusive or non-exclusive licence authorizes distribution for profit.

Copyright releases, in the majority of cases, only cover portions of documents. It is general practice that any person wanting to reproduce whole documents, even for non-profit purposes, must obtain a license agreement.

The conditions of a copyright release may include that you publish with the material:

- A disclaimer that states that you are not the owner of the information you are distributing
- That copyright and ownership remains exclusively with the Province of British Columbia
- A statement that you are not the official source of this information
- A statement that there is no implied endorsement from the Province of British Columbia
- An errors and omissions statement that says the Province of British Columbia is not responsible for the accuracy and completeness of the information you are distributing
- A limitation of liability to the Province of British Columbia from any damages arising from the use of the material being distributed

The conditions of a licence may include the above copyright release conditions, plus:

- Posting of a notice of intent for non-exclusive licences or an open bidding process for exclusive licences
- Schedules and amount of royalty payments to the Province of British Columbia
- Duration of licence agreement and conditions of renewal or extension
- Requirements for reporting
